

JDG Series

How does JDG play?

JDG play for mid-term investments and a single Baron that skyrockets them to a quick victory. Utilizing their solid laners who play around their jungler, you'll notice that their wave control is always in relation to Kanavi's pathing. From the ebb and flow of wave priority, objectives like dragons light up on the board.

Will JDG take another domestic championship?

Despite a shaky 3-1 win, JDG look poised to take another domestic championship, and possibly more. Competing on a fresh new patch, it was JDG's first series on 10.16. Right off the bat, viewers could feel the power behind the draft in game one -- the most important game, for it sets the momentum of the entire series.

What happened to JD Gaming?

Securing second place in the regular season, JD Gaming began their playoffs run in Round 4. Just like their 2023 runs, they remained in the upper bracket, defeating Bilibili Gaming (again), Edward Gaming, and finally LNG Esports. This is the organization's fourth domestic LPL title.

Why did JDG go 4v5?

Leading four kills to one, LNG took control in the mid game, racking up kills, and pushing JDG off objectives. When Baron spawned, they forced JDG's hand to 4v5 once again as Ruler was still making his way over to the pit. Caught out of position, the entire squad could not execute their front to back comp.

Did JDG have a consistent source of damage with Jhin?

Going up against Peanut's Kindred and Kramer's Ezreal, JDG did not have any consistent source of damage with Jhin as their sole ranged carry. Reeling back from the game three draft, JDG on blue side in game four traded Kindred by leaving open Renekton.

What's the difference between JDG and LNG?

JDG's team composition functioned the same in game one -- protect Ruler's Varus with meat shields. LNG on the other hand, drafted high single target damage in Tristana and LeBlanc, and significant AOE from Rell and Leona for team fights. The gold difference was small for most the game.

JD Gaming (JDG) is a Chinese professional esports organization based in Beijing. It has two League of Legends teams: a main roster, officially Beijing JDG Intel Esports Club, that competes in the League of Legends Pro League (LPL), the top-level league for the game in China, and an academy roster named Joy Dr...

Contact us for free full report

Web: <https://www.raioph.co.za/contact-us/>

Email: energystorage2000@gmail.com

WhatsApp: 8613816583346

